

Ida Gall
Program Quality Manager,
Military Development Programs
Pratt & Whitney

Currently Ida Gall is the Program Quality Manager of the Military Development Programs organization. Ms Gall background includes Continuous Improvement Specialist for the Military Engines (ME) Program Office. She was responsible for meeting Military Engines' Achieving Competitive Excellent (ACE) Gold goals for the Military Engines Program Office, and International Business Development and Planning, and helped support the Military Engines Aftermarket organization.

Ida has worked with the U.S. Air Force, The Boeing Company, Lockheed Martin, and Rockwell Collins, as part of the Lean Advancement Initiative (LAI) consortium to help facilitate and train people, and provide hands-on experience in LEAN concepts.

Ida earned a Masters in Business from Palm Beach Atlantic College and a Masters in Quality from the National Graduate School. She is also an active member of the Air Force Association (AFA), American Society of Quality (ASQ) and Women in Aviation International (WAI). Ida is an ASQ Certified Quality Auditor (CQA).